Keyes of the Week

"What Would God Want for Valentines' Day?"

Several years ago, I used at the Advent season an off the wall sermon title: "What Would God want for Christmas?" The point was to make God the object of our gifts and not look at it from the usual perspective of us being on the receiving end (which we always are). As soon as Christmas merchandise is off the store shelves, the multi-million dollar Valentine's Day season begins, and so I ask in this season when "love is in the air," what do you think God wants for Valentine's Day?

The Scriptures are plain when it comes to letting us know the kinds of things God would desire from us... like faith (Heb. 11:6), and obedience (1 Sm. 15:22-23), and justice, mercy, and humility (Mic 6:8). We'll flesh some of these out this morning. In the mean-time, how many ways can YOU think of to express your love to God? Once you've thought of them, commit them to action!

—Joe Keyes
