Keyes of the Week

"God's Still Working...In Spite of Us"

The other day in some of my daily readings in Genesis, I was reminded again how many times Abraham, the "Father of the Faithful," committed dumb, faithless acts, and yet God in his grace and continual providential oversight worked his plan through him anyway, which would many centuries later come to fruition in Jesus' coming.

It doesn't take us long to look all throughout those years between Abraham and Jesus in amazement at how many others did things which (were we speaking of anyone else but God) would have derailed the plan many times over, whether we're talking Moses, Eli, Gideon, Samson, Saul, David, Solomon, etc., just to name a few.

It seems God has always accomplished his will, not because of his people, but in spite of them! Imagine what he can continue to do if we shore up our faith and quit trying to do things our way, confident that God "has this." How about we try it and see?

Prayer Concerns

Bonnie Kennedy, Leroy Strack's sister, is having pulmonary issues.

Carleen Carroll has pneumonia.

Jan Doke had an outpatient surgery on her foot Thursday.

David Casto, Susan Vahrenkamp's father, was able to get a stent placed in an artery successfully and is doing well.

Kathy Brisbin, Niki Howton's mother, has tumors in her brain and will receive radiation soon. She has been battling lung cancer for five years as well.

Shannon McGee, Megan Odiorne's father, has not been doing well lately. He is having heart issues and feeling weak.

Judy Stewart, of the Schwertner family, is recovering from open-heart surgery.

Carol Bancroft's brother, Brien, had heart bypass surgery recently. Others in Carol's family need prayers as well.

Cindy Odiorne, Daniel Odiorne's mother, was admitted to the hospital Thursday for lower GI issues.
